

To whom it may concern, Please do not destroy the satellite radio services. In a free society each of us should be free to choose what information we want to hear and from who. Stopping XM from delivering information to me is really just censorship for dollars. Receiving an XM transmission does not stop me from listening to AM/FM radio. If they have something on that I want to listen to (often they do), I turn off XM and listen.

The law in question is analogous to saying we cannot receive Cell phone calls with traffic information. Is that where we are headed too?

Sincerely,
Ronald Palencia
